CityCenterDC

CityCenter DC, a project nearly a decade in the making that promises to transform the east end of downtown Washington, broke ground on April 4, 2011. The project now controls the 10-acre parcel bounded by New York Avenue and H, Ninth and 11th streets NW in Washington DC. It is expected to include more than 1 million square feet of office, 330,000 square feet of retail, a 350- to 400-room hotel, about 670 housing units and 2,400 parking spots. Given its import to downtown D.C., it is no surprise that CityCenter popped up in the top five projects in Washington DC according to Victor Hoskins, acting deputy mayor for planning and economic development.

Universal Stones awarded subcontract of Package #3 on May 18, 2011, will use a list of Engineered Stone as, Caesarstone both in Kitchen, Vanity, Tub Surround, Shelf and Common area as well. The stone phase is expected to move in next June.
